First Responders First

Behavioral Health Awareness, Training, Strategy, and Executive Health & Wellness Solutions

Janelle Cronk is a strategic performance coach who specializes in developing and maintaining strategic accounts and partnerships for Acadia Healthcare. Serving on the Officer Safety and Wellness Committee for the FBI National Academy Associates (FBINAA), Janelle has trained hundreds of first responders on resiliency, wellness, and resolution.

Janelle is a certified "Train the Trainer" for the United States Air Force's Master Resiliency Program. Master Resiliency Training is a preventative approach to addressing the challenges that military members face by focusing on the four pillars of a healthy mind – mental, social, spiritual, and physical.

Possessing the unique ability to create fast and critical solutions, Janelle has earned a certificate of honor from the U.S. Capitol for having saved many lives within the first responder population.

Additionally, Janelle partners with Fortune 500 companies to provide them with new perspectives in how to gainfully review employee performance and sustainability.

Janelle is driven by a mission to connect superior behavioral health and substance abuse services to those who serve the community as first responders, while steadfastly keeping the individual needs of each of her clients in mind.
